Late Democratic Candidate Discusses the Corporations.

SAYS STATEMENTS ARE NOW VERIFIED

Declares Practice is Unlawful and is Not Confined to Insurance Companies - Last Year Not the First Time. Takes Shot at McCall.

(By Associated Press.)

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 17.-Former Chief Judge Alton B. Parker, last year the Democratic candidate for President of the United States, to-day referred to the charges made by him in the presidential campaign last fall, that corporation funds were being used to aid the Republicans To a correspondent of the Associated a correspondent of the Associated esz, who called at Rosemount, Judge rker's home, and asked him if he d anything to say in relation to the tement made by Vice-President George. Perkins, of the New York Life Inrance Company, to the effect that esident John A. McCall, of that comps, had caused a contribution of about 600 to be made last year to the Rebican national campaign fund, Judge rker said:

when there is no political excitement to distract the public attention, that the president of the New York Life was not the only such contributor. The officers of other great life insurance ficers of other great life insurance mpanies, such as the Equitable, and the companies, such as the Equitable, and the Mutual, also contributed from the polley-holders' funds for campaign purposes last year. The underlying principles which divide the great mass of people into parties have no effect upon such men. Their one inquiry is, will the party organization in its hour of triumph remember our generosity and respond to our demands? Of course the organization does remember, for it expects a similar contribution next time. And the expectation is not in vain.

"Last year was not the first time. Such

"Last year was not the first time. Such contributions have been made before in national. State and municipal elections.

What They Got in Return.

"The officers responsible for these raids upon the treasuries of corporations have received their reward in unfettered man-agement of different insurance corporareceived their reward in unfettered management of different insurance corporations; in unembarrassed raids upon the public through trusts, condemned by both common and statute law; in refusal to punish criminally the officers of railroad and other corporations violating the laws; and in statutory permission to manufacture corporations and to levy tribute on the people.

"There can be no hope of checking the unlawful aggressions of officers of great corporations so long as they may thus form a quasi partnership with the organization of the dominant political party. For in the hour when the administrative official seeks to punish the offender he is reminded by the head of the contributions of the corporation.

"There is, however, something worse, if possible than the escape of such offenders from justice. It is the gradual demoralization of voters and the duilling of public conscience, caused by the efforts to make these vast sums of money procure the ballots they were intended to procure, corruptly and otherwise.

Not the Only Case.

"What has been proved in the case of the New York Life will undoubtedly be proved in the other cases. The facts exist and honest and able counsel back-ed by an honest committee will un-doubtedly bring them out for the public secure a partisun triumph.

"That their acts wer cunlawful and their purpose; corrupt, goes without saying. They intended to have the money used, as it was, in corrupting the electorate. Mr. Perkins makes the point that Mr. John A. McCall, the president of the New York Life(is a Democrat. Apparently he would have the upblic assume that when Mr. McCall unlawfully and wrongfully contributed these funds—the company's share probably as a member of the underwriting syndicate—it was evidence of political virtue, rather than misconduct.

"The truth about it is, and I say it without feeling, but emphatically, that men like McCall have no political convictions that stand in the way of their personal advantage.

Such men desire the triumph of that party which will better serve their personal financial interests, and will—for contributions, past, present and future—continue to protect these interests by Jenient legislation and by pretense at execution of law, which shall be tenderly blind to all their offenses. That party they epouse in the board room, and contribute to it of the moneys they hold in trust, and; occasionally a little of their own.

steam before they crossed the boundary line and escaped from the Canadians. More than thirty shots struck the vessel and of these fifteen of the small shells landed with telling-effect on the upper part so the boat careened to one side with the mass of wreckage when she came into port.

Having been used formerly for a pleasure steamer Barnhurst is of large size and well fitted with steam equipment. The fireman Johnson, fainted in the hold from over exertion in keeping the steamer going ahead. He was reported killed, but revived after reaching shore. Two fishermen were cut in the face by splinters shot away by the hullets.

The Barnhurst, according to Captain Fasel, was about five miles over the line drawing nets when the Vigilant appeared. The other Eric tugs, the Alma, Vallant and the Boyd, were closer to the line and ran away when the chase started. Captain Dunn ordered the Barnhurst to stop, but instead of doing so, Captain Fasel put on full steam and started for the line. He took a southwesterly direction and could not be headed by the Vigilant.

It has become quite the custom for the Vigilant.

It has become quite the custom for the Eric fishermen to cross the line regardless of strict orders from the companies employing them, and having exclude prushes with the Vigilant. They never think of surrender when there 1s a chance to run away. The Barnhurst lost a large quantity of nets.

Colonel O'Ferrall was considerably weaker last night, though he was more easily aroused than on Saturday. The end is looked for at any time, though the distinguished patient may live several days.

Tests Prove That Settling Basin Will Furnish Absolutely Clear and Pure Water-History CHINESE BOYCOTT ENDED of Richmond's Water Supply Since the City's Foundation.

Amongst the many indications of progress that have marked the advance of Richmond in recent years, there are none that serve more than the water works, to show the progressive spirit that has animated those in civic authority.

The water question is, and has been for years, the subject of much thoughful consideration, for while the city now enjors a vast supply, the "quality" is not in keeping with the "quantity," for the red hills of Albemarle and Fluvanna counties are perpetual enemies to clear water, while the pollution flowing down from a great water shed is an everlasting menace to health.

"How to furnish a sufficient quantity of clear, pure water?" was the question that confronted Mr. Charles E. Bolling, superintendent of the water works, and the committee from the City Council. It was decided to build a settling and congulating busin in which the water would be cleared and purified before being pumped into the reservoirs.

The tests that have been carefully and continuously made are most satisfac-tory and there seems to be not the shad-ow of a doubt but that Richmond will have an abundant supply of pure, clear water after February 1, 1900 An Interesting History.

since its foundation, is an inetresting one, showing as it does the growth of comfort and the demand of affluence. From the days when Richmond was settled by Colonel Byrd, a short time after 1687, down to the year 1829, the city had no water works of any descripton. It is true that certain individuals piped water to their residences from springs, but for the most part, wells, pumps and aprings were the source of water supply. Mr. J. L. Davis, for many years Superintendent of the City Water Works, has written an interesting pamphlet on the written as interesting pamphlet on the old springs of the days of the early eighties.

The "Shot Tower," or Bullock's Sprips, on Grace street, between Eighth and Ninth street, was so bold that it was piped to the paper mill on English and Byrd Street, and the work in the manufacture of paper. In the Capitol Square were two large springs, one on either side of the capitol, which were piped down to supply the thirsty with water at the point where the fountains now stand. The West spring was evenuatly joined by pipes with the "Shot Tower" spring, and to-day supplies the drinking fountain in front of Bargamin's, just behind the Chamber of Commerce. Many This Week.

A great many appointments will be commenced this week for next Monday, and by the first of October all the big leaders of the party will be on the stump. Chairman Ellyson has refrained from making early appointments for those who were candidates in the recent primary, for the reason that he desires them to have a little rest from the arduous strain through which they have just passed. It is rather a bad time to get lawyers on the stump, as just now the fail terms of all the courts are coming on.

This was demonstrated last week. Mr. Ellyson desired some one to go to Lee county to-day, but failed in his efforts. Judge Rhea, of Bristol, was engaged in court, and other leaders called upon gave the same excuse.
